THE STATE RESULT.

The result of the election throughout the State cannot be determined or estimated with any degree of certainty at the hour we go to press, as the returns are very meagre. The election was closely contested, and although the vote cast was light on both sides, still the opposition appear to have gained heavily in most sections. We are hopeful, however, that Judge WILLIAMS has been elected, and from our dispatches have, thus far, no occasion to doubt that he has received a majority over his opponent.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

We congratulate the Republicans of this county on their bearing throughout the canvass that closed last night, and on the brilliant results of their efforts. Their majority is nearly equal to what it was at the gubernatorial election last year. In proportion to the number of votes cast, it is considerably larger.

Notwithstanding the clamor of factionists, for weeks past, the entire county ticket is elected.

As we predicted, the Workingmen's movement has proved a failure. The basis upon which it was organized was too narrow to entitle it to success, and the manner in which it was conducted aggravated the inherent difficulties it had to encounter. The whole number of votes commanded by it scarcely exceeds two thousand.

CONSOLIDATION.

The scheme for consolidating Pittsburgh, Allegheny, and the adjoining municipalities, did not meet with the popular support at the polls anticipated for it. Pittsburgh, Lawrenceville borough, and Union township, are the only corporations in which majorities were given for the measure. Consequently, neither the north side, that is, its contiguous districts, nor the south side, including the Birminghams and other districts, are to be united to Pittsburgh. Between the two rivers there is a majority for the measure, but as all the corporations except Lawrenceville voted to stay out, it may be regarded as questionable whether they will be compelled to come in against their wills.

PHILADELPHIA did badly yesterday, quite contrary to the expectations created by assurances received during some days prior to the election. A loss there of over seven thousand was a most serious matter.

THE returns from Ohio indicate the defeat of the proposed Constitutional Amendment granting the negroes the right of suffrage. The State has gone Republican by a large majority.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

REMARKS.—There have been forty-six districts heard from, which give Mr. Williams a total vote of 11,422, and Mr. Sharswood 6,854—Republican majority 4,568. The thirty-nine districts to hear from gave for Geary 2,155 majority. If the results in these districts are not materially changed the full county majority will be about 6,700.

Errett so far shows about the same majority over Barr, as Williams over Sharswood, leading the county ticket considerably.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8, 1867.

GEN. SHERMAN.

The telegram from the President to General Sherman, ordering him to report here in person immediately did not specify any cause for his relief from duty on the Indian Commission, and it is supposed that, notwithstanding the assertions of the Administration press to the contrary, Mr. Johnson intended to offer him the War Office. Finding that the General's fast friendship for General Grant and his political principles, which, whatever they have been in the past, are now similar to those entertained by his brother, Senator John Sherman, rendered the acceptance of the offer uncertain, the President hesitated to make it, and it is probable that the General will return to the west without having accomplished anything beyond having several fruitless interviews with the President.

GEN. SICKLES.

The Tribune's special says: The stories that Chief Justice Chase had denounced Gen. Sickles' administration in the Carolinas are unfounded. The Chief Justice differs from Gen. Sickles as to the interpretation of Order No. 10, but says that had his advice been taken and followed, Gen. Sickles would have been retained in command. In regards the present administration of the Carolinas as just, able and apt to conduce to early restoration on the plan proposed by Congress.

PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS.

The Herald's special says: A movement has been inaugurated by prominent members of Congress, it is said, which is intended to secure harmony between the President and the legislative body on the pressing question of Southern reconstruction. ST. LOUIS, October 8.—The attendance at the fair to-day was very large. The weather is very fine. The awards in the agricultural machinery department to-day were four premiums to the Industrial Plow Manufacturing Company, St. Louis, for prairie breaker, double shovel and single corn plows; the Vandiver Corn Planter, and Alton Improved Corn Planter, manufactured by Barlow, Wood & Co., Quincy, Ill.; the Buckeye Sulky corn plow of Thoma & Marsh, Springfield, Ohio, and a wheat thresher, made by Owen, Lane, Dyer & Co., Hamilton, Ohio.

Minor awards yesterday were four second premiums to John Deere & Co., Moline, Illinois.

In the ring exhibition for cattle there was a very poor show in numbers. Premiums were taken by V. Dincomfelter, Danville, Ind.; W. R. Duncan, McLean county, Ill.; J. H. Spear, Tabosa, Ill., and W. H. Beverly, Logan county, Ill. Among the stallions shown in the amphitheatre were rings for the best six in hand and four in hand teams for private premises, which were taken by the St. Louis men. These were novelties and created a good deal of excitement among spectators. A ring of gentlemen's saddle horses of mares for buggy brought out a large number of the best gentlemen's roadsters in the city, and trotters were several during contests of speed. The first premium for geldings was taken by Logan Baby, Jacksonville, Illinois, and C. C. Creveling, St. Louis. Both premiums for mares were taken taken by St. Louis gentlemen. In another ring of young geldings Logan Baby took the first premium and J. C. Payne, Bunker Hill, Ill., the second.

In the sweeps for swine all the premiums except two were taken by E. P. Jones, of Jacksonville, Illinois, and J. S. McCreary, of Canton, Illinois.

The premiums for sheep were all taken by General Linn, from Candia. Most of those sheep are the same as those exhibited at the Illinois state fair last week, where they carried off the greatest number of prizes.

The banking house of Stone, McCoy & Co., Independence, Missouri, was robbed on Saturday night of bank and broker's notes. The exact amount is not known. The loss falls mainly on special depositors, the working hands on the bank can hardly lose less than three thousand. There is no clue to the robbers.

SAINT LOUIS

Progress of the Fair—Rushing House Robbed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, October 8.—The attendance at the fair to-day was very large. The weather is very fine. The awards in the agricultural machinery department to-day were four premiums to the Industrial Plow Manufacturing Company, St. Louis, for prairie breaker, double shovel and single corn plows; the Vandiver Corn Planter, and Alton Improved Corn Planter, manufactured by Barlow, Wood & Co., Quincy, Ill.; the Buckeye Sulky corn plow of Thoma & Marsh, Springfield, Ohio, and a wheat thresher, made by Owen, Lane, Dyer & Co., Hamilton, Ohio.

Minor awards yesterday were four second premiums to John Deere & Co., Moline, Illinois.

In the ring exhibition for cattle there was a very poor show in numbers. Premiums were taken by V. Dincomfelter, Danville, Ind.; W. R. Duncan, McLean county, Ill.; J. H. Spear, Tabosa, Ill., and W. H. Beverly, Logan county, Ill. Among the stallions shown in the amphitheatre were rings for the best six in hand and four in hand teams for private premises, which were taken by the St. Louis men. These were novelties and created a good deal of excitement among spectators. A ring of gentlemen's saddle horses of mares for buggy brought out a large number of the best gentlemen's roadsters in the city, and trotters were several during contests of speed. The first premium for geldings was taken by Logan Baby, Jacksonville, Illinois, and C. C. Creveling, St. Louis. Both premiums for mares were taken taken by St. Louis gentlemen. In another ring of young geldings Logan Baby took the first premium and J. C. Payne, Bunker Hill, Ill., the second.

In the sweeps for swine all the premiums except two were taken by E. P. Jones, of Jacksonville, Illinois, and J. S. McCreary, of Canton, Illinois.

The premiums for sheep were all taken by General Linn, from Candia. Most of those sheep are the same as those exhibited at the Illinois state fair last week, where they carried off the greatest number of prizes.

The banking house of Stone, McCoy & Co., Independence, Missouri, was robbed on Saturday night of bank and broker's notes. The exact amount is not known. The loss falls mainly on special depositors, the working hands on the bank can hardly lose less than three thousand. There is no clue to the robbers.

RICHMOND, VA.

The Trial of Jeff Davis

RICHMOND, October 8.—In view of the trial of Jeff. Davis, double the usual number of petit jurors have been ordered to be summoned for the fall term of Court. Hon. James Lyons was to-day furnished with a copy of the indictment against the accused. Gen. Walker, of Alexandria, it is understood, is engaged on the side of the prosecution. The prosecuting attorney, Chandler, leaves to-night for New York, to consult with Mr. Evarts, who assists him.

The amount of tobacco shipped from Richmond during September was over a million pounds, on which a tax of half a million dollars was paid.

Tennessee Legislature.

NASHVILLE, October 8.—The House of Representatives completed its organization to-day. James Sumner, colored, was elected assistant door keeper over several white competitors. The Governor's message is not yet delivered. Unauthorized and premature synopsis has been telegraphed. It is reported the Governor will be inaugurated to-morrow. The inaugural address is already in the hands of the public printer.

Railroad Consolidation.

CLEVELAND, O., October 10.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula, and Cleveland and Toledo railroad Companies, held here to-day to vote on the question of lease and consolidation, a large vote was polled unanimously in favor of the same by both Companies.

Fayette county is about 600, a democratic loss of 150.

Brownsville gives 21 Democratic majority, a loss of 2 votes.

Believernon gives Williams a majority of 61.

Connellsville Borough—Democratic majority of 3, a gain for the Democrats of 7. Connellsville township, Democratic majority 25; a gain of 16.

Twenty wards heard from, showing a Democratic majority of about 2,500. There are seven wards to hear from that gave Republican majorities last year, and one that gave a Democratic majority.

The Republicans concede that Sharswood has carried the city by over 1,000 majority and that the State has gone the same way by several thousand.

The Democratic city ticket, legislative and judicial, is also carried.

Wayne county gives a Democratic majority of 250; a Republican gain of 275.

Wilmore—Summer Hill township 51 majority for Sharswood; county ticket runs the same.

Freeport, Armstrong county—Williams 151, Sharswood 91; was decided at the last Cabinet meeting not to sell any more iron clad war vessels. Mr. Seward is supposed to be afraid of giving some nation offence by selling vessels to its opponent.

ARMY CIRCULAR.

The following circular has just been issued by General Grant: "Brevet major generals commanders are hereby authorized to receive from their subordinate officers, with a view to lay them before the General-in-Chief, such practical suggestions relating to their respective spheres of duty as may in their estimation be recommended by experience and reflection for embodiment in the new edition of regulations for the army."

PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS.

The Herald's special says: A movement has been inaugurated by prominent members of Congress, it is said, which is intended to secure harmony between the President and the legislative body on the pressing question of Southern reconstruction. On learning the President's own plans, the Republicans propose to concede their own opinions as much as they can in order to meet his purposes, and thus secure representation for the Southern States by the time the next Presidential election takes place.

JAPANESE RAM STONEWALL.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1867.

THE EUROPEAN MOVEMENT.

When NAPOLEON III. saw, or though he saw, that a monarchy of at least the second grade, existing in the Italian peninsula, would execute his dynastic revenge upon Austria, and stand as a restraint upon all Germany, he determined to lend his powerful aid to its erection. To justify before the world, and in history, his intention, he brought forward and urged the doctrine of the Solidarity of Peoples; that is, he avowed himself a convert to and advocate of, the doctrine that all tribes cognate in race, inhabiting contiguous territories, and at any former period amalgamated more or less closely under one government, should be at liberty to follow the affinities arising out of these relationships, and organize into one nation. The idea had a certain grandeur in it that struck the popular sense as a supreme inspiration. It bore an aspect of justice and magnanimity, and met a desire cherished by the masses of Europe more intensely than any other except that for personal and civil liberty.

As for other natural and manifest applications of this doctrine he did not care. It answered admirably the purpose he then had in view; and this point gained, if it afterwards stood in the way of the accomplishment of any other designs he might entertain, he would have only to ignore it, or, at worst, to trample on it as a thing that had served all the ends that was wanted of it.

In this frame of mind he became the champion of the doctrine, and gave potent help in wrenching several provinces from the Austrian crown, and in circumscribing the temporal patrimony of the Pope.

Soon, however, the doctrine he had espoused became distasteful to him. Germany began to move, as by instinct, towards its unification. In the Grecian portions of the Ottoman Empire there was a strong revival of the ancient hatred of Turkish domination, and yearning to renew the connection with the inheritors of their blood and the sharers in their traditions. These were reanimations prejudicial to that lust of power and vanity of aggrandizement for which France is conspicuous above all other nations. A reunited Germany would be more than a match for her in numbers and wealth, in hardihood and valor. It would frustrate her plots to extend her boundary to the Rhine; nay, might, in the progress of events, and that right speedily, compel her to relinquish the Rhenish provinces she captured and holds.

If the Turks should be driven out, and the Eastern Empire arise out of the ashes of centuries; especially, if the Czar should be able to make good his pretensions as the heir and residuary legatee of the Byzantian Emperors; France would sink into comparative insignificance. Instead of regaining her lost estate as the arbiter of destiny, or retaining her present position of full equality with the highest of the continental powers, she would comparatively sink in the scale of greatness until constrained to accept the relative grade now held by Spain.

With the accomplishment of Italian consolidation, and such co-operation between Italy and Germany as would be likely to result from their similarity of position, France would be forced to relinquish its aspirations for the Alps as a boundary, and might even be forced to give up Savoy, the cradle of the house which Victor Emanuel represents, and which was torn from his unwilling hand by the avarice of his ally.

When GARIBALDI set on foot the present movement for the reclamation of Rome and the adjacent territories for the Italian people, the impression generally obtained that the enterprise was dictated rather by patriotic enthusiasm than a just and sober estimate of the forces at command for its accomplishment.

In the light of facts developed since it is manifest this conception was fallacious. The Italians not only long for the possession of Rome, but are ready to dare and suffer the utmost to obtain it. In an important sense Rome is Italy. That ancient city is an embodied history of the Italian people. Its palaces, its monuments, its rivers, its geographical features, are all instinct with memories and suggestions, so vital as never to be quenched, and so potent as to stir the hearts of the people with a tempest of emotions.

Outside of Italy the situation is propitious. France stands in awe of the rising power of Prussia, which latter watches its opportunity, that cannot be long in coming, to complete the cycle of its redemption. Russia, the grandest monument of unyielded tenacity and unfailing patience that has been evolved in modern times, looks and waits, hopes and expects the dawning of the day when its sturdy legions, more numerous than any of the swarms the prolific north sent forth in the olden times, shall cross the Balkan and encamp along the Bosphorus, not to depart again forever.

A hum of preparation, low and indistinct, but full of mighty questionings, comes across the Atlantic. It forebodes the mustering of the wings of war, and such a war as shall re-map Europe and give a new flow to its destiny. Let us watch for the rising of the curtain of the great drama.

MRS. LINCOLN.

The Tribune suggests that Congress shall pay Mrs. LINCOLN $75,000, the amount of her husband's salary for the second term. We doubt the propriety of this. Munificent provisions for members of royal households, is a policy which grinds the faces of the poor in European countries; and it is a policy which should never be introduced into a Republic. We advocate equality before the law. We protest against privileged classes. The honor of the nation is in no way represented by any one family. We have no royal blood, and no wish to create a hereditary nobility. Mrs. LINCOLN's great mistake has been the supposition that the honor of this nation required that she should rise with, or surpass, in luxurious apparel, the lady ambassadress, queens and empresses who are supposed thus to represent the wealth of their small monarchies. No more mischievous doctrine can well be inculcated than this, that the honor of the nation requires luxurious living in her public men, and luxurious provision for their families. It is the seed of a deadly upas tree which, if planted and cultivated, will soon overshadow and poison our liberties. Mrs. LINCOLN has as much claim upon the country as any other woman whose husband died for his country, only this and nothing more. Were she in want of the necessaries of life she would have a claim upon the benevolence of the people; but a woman who has a clear income of $1,700 a year is secure of all the necessaries and comforts of life, and if she has so low an estimate of the dignity of her position as to feel that glitter can add to it she must be a person of such stamp that nothing can dignify.

Our people are rapidly losing all idea of republican symplicity, and like NAPOLEON I., we copy and aim to surpass the pomp and pretension of the European aristocracies and royalties in outward show, while pretending to teach them the inward principles of government. We forget that throughout nature the outward is the unerring indication of the inward life. The young and growing fruit-leaves are clothed in simple green, and so they continue during the period they act as the breathing lungs which nourish the growth of the timber, and perfect the fruit of the tree; but the decay of autumn brings the gorgeousness of rainbow tints, and soon they fall to dust and become the fruit of other plants.

A nation passes through the cycle of "freedom, and then glory, vice, wealth, corruption, barbarism at last." Growth, maturity, decay, dust. In the early days of our country we were proud of the simplicity of our rulers and their families, in their style of living. Now we are told that the national honor will be tarnished if the wives and widows of our public men may not vie with those of similar stations in the "old, rotten governmen's" which we fancy are dying out. Will we not soon require a crown, with larger diamonds than that of any European monarchy, to fitly represent our wealth and greatness?

Does not every one feel that the widow of President LINCOLN requires no diamonds or point lace to give dignity to her position? that a simple establishment, such as her income would afford, would be all that it is required for her heal h and comfort? is all this nation is required to give her, whilst thousands of women, made widows by the war, are struggling for bread and shelter? Are we in the period of decay that we require gorgeous colors to indicate our state?

PERSONAL.

—The Duke of Richmond possesses 340,000 acres.

—Mr. Beecher preached upon "Matrimony" last Sunday.

—Miss Addie M. Belden is the musical excitement of western New York.

—Senator Sumner has twenty-nine engagements to lecture in the west at $200 each.

—Colton, the map man, has issued a new railroad map of the United States and Canada.

—Benjamin Franklin is a candidate for Senator in Wiona, Minnesota. Geo. Washington is digging potatoes in Ohio.

—Mr John Corgdon, of Charlestown, Mass., has raised five hundred and ninety-five pounds of pumpkins from one seed.

—Mr. Piper, of Bane, is the oldest man in Massachusetts, one hundred and five years. It is thought he will not pipe much longer.

—Tennyson, the English laureate, has a street named after him in Boston. Holmes, the Massachusetts laureate, has a hole named after him—it is called Holmes' Hole.

—Captain McNulty and Lieutenant Ricker, of Troy, formally officers of the Griswold cavalry, have had the Mexican Legion of Honor conferred upon them by President Juarez.

—M. Decarmin, who enjoyed the reputation of being the senior criminal in the French prisons, has just died in the Central Jail at Loos, near Lille, at the advanced age of ninety-two years. The venerable scoundrel passed forty-five years of his long life in various prisons.

—After listening to him in All Souls' church, Henry Ward Beecher shook hands with Robert Collyer, and said: "If you preach in that way the deacons of Plymouth church will not hesitate to let you into their pulpit." Collyer responded, "If they have stood you, Mr. Beecher, these ten years, they would gladly stand me by this time."

—Dr. Richardson, of London, has come forward and recanted his ammonia theory of coagulatic of the blood, which wrought him celebrity some ten years ago. Dr. Richardson is the contriver of the ether spray which deadens local pain. His experiments in its application have led to the discovery of the error he so honorably announces.

—The freedom of the town of Dundee, Scotland, has been presented to the Duke of Buccleugh, Sir Roderick Murchison, Sir Charles Lyell, and Sir William Armstrong, of New Castle, the inventor of the "Armstrong Gun," who was a lawyer before he became an artillerist. The documents of freedom were inclosed in four electro-plated caskets—rather a cheap affair.

—Rachel Levin, the celebrated beauty, author, and wit, the wife of the late Herr Von Varnhagen, well known as a Prussian diplomatist, and writer on cotemporary history, has just been buried at Berlin, after having been dead for thirty years. Having a mortal fear of being buried alive, the lady ordered in her testament that the upper part of the coffin should be made with a glass window, the coffin constantly watched for a month after death, and deposited in a special hall for a period of thirty years.

—Rev. Mr. Channing, of Boston, recently preached in the Thistle Hall, Dundee, Scotland. Several distinguished members of the British Association were present. Sir John and Lady Bowring, Professor Fawcett, M. P., and Mrs. Fawcett, were among the number. Mr. Channing has qualities as a preacher which astonished the "Dundonians," as the town's people are called. He repudiated the doctrine of endlessness of punishment by God as an offense to the moral consciousness of humanity, with a personal earnestness that took the congregation by surprise.

—Victoria and Eugenie are very much annoyed about a quarrel which has arisen between some of the English newspapers and the illustrated journals of France. The British newspapers charge these illustrated French journals with maliciously making Queen Victoria look exceedingly ugly on the engravings which they published of the visit of the Empress Eugenie to Osborne, and on which Eugenie and Victoria appear side by side. The French papers swear, parole d honneur, the ugliness of the Queen was not intentional, and there was no studied insult in the engravings. The fact is that the face of the Queen in those engravings is a shocking caricature.

LITERARY.

—Mrs. Crody ("Jennie June" is writing a book upon the care of children.

—Dr. Holland's "Katrina" is selling very rapidly. It bids fair to eclipse "Bitter Sweet."

—Mr. Beecher's novel of "Norwood" is announced for publication in London on the 10th of October.

—Parton says Mrs. Stowe has lost two hundred thousand dollars for want of an international copyright.

—The diary and letters of Mrs. President Edwards, which appeared in Hours at Home, are pronounced forgeries by the Congregationalist.

—M. Renan has lately read a charming essay upon the wife of Marcus Aurelius, in which that elegant and aristocratic woman is defended.

—Hurd & Houghton have published part 6 of their edition of Dr. William Smith's "Dictionary of the Bible," edited by Professor Hackett and Mr. Ezra Abbott.

—Dr. Elder is editing a tariff paper in New York. Elder and Carey are the oldest political economists in the country. Philadelphia should be proud of them.

—The Rev. George Gilfillan, whose dashing criticisms on English and American men of letters brought him into notice some years ago, is a resident preacher in Scotland.

—Rev. Charles C. Adams, of Manhattanville, has written a book about Audubon, which is to be published in London by Sampson, Low & Co., and in New York by Harper & Bros.

—Wiggin & Lunt, of Boston, have published, in two beautiful volumes, printed by John Wilson & Son, "Salem Witchcraft; with an Account of Salem Village, and a History of Opinions on Witchcraft, and Kindred Subjects," by Charles W. Upham.

—The popularity of "The Ingoldsby Legends" may be inferred from the fact that eighty-three thousand copies have already been published. There are four different editions in the London market, the prices of which range from one guinea to five shillings.

Petroleum for Steam Fire Engines.

Some experiments were made in Boston on Saturday last with liquid fuel for steam fire engines, and results were obtained surpassing the expectations of the most sanguine of the scientific gentlemen present. With the engine perfectly stationary, the steam gauge showed nine pounds of steam in six minutes from the time that the match was applied. When the throttle was opened the engine was set in motion, and steam ran up immediately to forty-five pounds; water was then turned in, and 110 pounds of water pressure maintained with forty pounds of steam. This was a most remarkable result. As the fire was increased the steam ran up to sixty, with the throttle wide open, and the engine working to its full capacity. The experiment continued for one hour, when the fire was instantly extinguished by the engineer, to the astonishment of all the spectators. The oil in the small tanks was just lowered two inches, and the cost of the same was only about thirty cents, while with coal for fuel it would have cost about $2.50, or one-tenth of a ton.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

—Carl Schurz has been actively engaged in the recent political canvass in Ohio.

—Geary has the Bee of the Presidency buzzing around his ear. Ben. Brewster is managing the canvass for him.

—Judge Kelley supports Sheridan. How would Sheridan and Kelley do? That would bring all the Irish vote.

—Curtin wants to be Vice President, and so does Fenton, likewise Forney, not to speak of James M. Scovel, of New Jersey, and Cattell.

—Charles Lever hints that Louis Napoleon will have to come down heavily with hush money to keep certain unpleasant written records of the Mexican expedition from being made public.

—Governor Swann proposes to disband all the military organizations of colored men in Baltimore, and take away their arms. They say they will not give up their guns until forced to do so.

—A Washington special states that an effort will be made at the reassembling of Congress to amend the National Banking law so as to give the Secretary of the Treasury the right to call for a bank statement any week during the quarter.

—Judge Chase, in a recent speech at Columbus, Ohio, said: "I am not, as you know, a man given to change my vote, therefore on Tuesday next it will be given for the candidates of the great party whose proud distinction is that it demands equal rights and exact justice to all men, and insists on maintaining inviolate the public faith."

—Henry Clay Dean invited Horace Greeley to discuss the Democratic plan of repudiating the National debt, and received this reply:

OFFICE OF THE TRIBUNE,
NEW YORK, September 8, 1867.

MR. DEAN—Sir: I have yours of the 29th ultimo. Should I ever consent to argue the propriety and policy of wholesale swindling, I shall take your proposal into consideration. I do not know where the cause of national villainy could find a fitter advocate than yourself.

HORACE GREELEY.

Henry Clay Dean, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

A letter from Paris says: "Every person who has been to the French and Italian opera houses knows by sight the venerable white head, tall Astrakan cap and chocolate-colored garb of the musical Persian. He is almost as much a fixture at the Salle Ventadour as the chandelier. He has never been known to miss a night, has never had a day's illness, and has occupied the same stall on the first tier ever since I can remember. On the off nights he goes to the French opera house. Music is his only pleasure. He knows no one, and no one, except his servant and his tailor, has ever been within the doors of his apartment, which is situated on the first floor in the Rue de Rivoli. The name of this singular individual is Mohammed-Ismael-Khan. He is eighty-four years old, and his fortune amounts to more than two millions of francs. He lives in the simplest manner, never drinks any wine, the only luxury of his life being rare delicious fruit. A drive to the Bois every day, and the opera in the evening, make up the sum total of his harmless existence, which, however, during the revolution of 1848 ran the risk of terminating in a tragic manner. While standing at the window, looking out upon the agitated street, he was perceived by a garde nationale, who took aim at him with his musket. The affrighted Mahammed-Ismael had fortunately the time to disappear into the kitchen, whence he did not emerge until Paris was itself again."

THE rapid march of history in our land was never more signally illustrated than when the brokers of New York recently sang "Old John Brown" during their reception of Sheridan. It seems only a day or two since the gaunt gray-bearded martyr to an idea swung from a Virginia scaffold, while the learning, piety, and culture of the country united in applauding the execution. Yet since that time armies have trodden to the rhythm of his requiem, and the legend of his death has become the history of the nation.

INVISIBLE POISONS.

The Medicis and the Borgias fortified their systems with powerful antidotes against the subtle poisons with which they used to destroy their enemies, and which they feared might one day be employed against themselves. There are invisible poisons, almost as deadly, against which few of us think of taking any precautions. These banes are in the air. When the atmosphere is surcharged with them, as it sometimes is at this season, epidemic fevers ensue. The summer which has just closed has been a most remarkable one. The amount of rain which has fallen has been enormous, and the exhalations from the soil it set loose, and are, dense and sepulchral beyond example. These exhalations exercise a pernicious influence on the vital powers, and predispose the system for the disease. Everywhere people are complaining of nauseated debility, lassitude and depression. These symptoms are generally fore-runners of an epidemic. Counteract them early—before they have into something worse—with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, the most effective antidote to malaria that the vegetable kingdom has ever yielded. The proportion is three-fold—invigorating, depurative and anti-bilious. Far from any ingredient that is in the slightest degree deleterious to health, and containing the juices and extracts of the rarest medicinal herbs, roots and barks, the BITTERS is a defensive preparation to any other tonic, herbal or medicinal treatment used in medical practice. A course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, in humanely speaking, a perfect safeguard against intermittent and remittent fevers.

A DANGEROUS SEASON.

An almost unparalleled quantity of rain has fallen during the summer. Vegetation has been wonderfully thick and rank, and, as it decays, an unusual amount of sickness may be expected unless proper means are taken to prevent it.

Fever and ague and bilious remittents already prevail to an alarming extent, and as the Fall advances and the malarious night fogs become heavier, the sick list is likely to increase both in the city and the country. It is, therefore, only an act of common prudence to keep the vital forces in full vigor, so that they may resist the unhealthy influences of the season. Re-inforced by the tonic operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the system, however weak and susceptible, naturally will. In nine cases out of ten, consequently, the miasmatic or other atmospheric poison by which epidemics are produced.

During the months of September, October and November, the difference in temperature between day and night is very great, and the chilling dews and mists of the season are the prolific causes of indigestion, costera morbus, diarrhœa and dysentery. Bearing this in mind, remember, also, that the BITTERS is no only invigorate the stomach and brace the nerves, but act specifically upon the bowels and the liver, imparting to those important organs regularity and tone. It is not reasonable to expect immunity from prevalent complaints if no precautions are taken to escape them.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS BITTERS are at once pleasant to the taste, and the most certain of all safeguards against febrile ailments.

—The people along the Hudson are catching cheese which floats off from the cargo of the Dean Richmond. It is said to be excellent and uninjured by the water.

—A young man in Dayton, Ohio, is going through the bankrupt court with only one creditor—a young lady with a five thousand dollars breach-of-promise verdict.

—The Protestant Bishop of Cork is a pauper. He has only ten thousand a year salary. The Bishop of Derry, taking compassion on him, allows him five thousand from his own salary.

—The New Orleans Commercial Bulletin says that parties capable of judging estimate this year's crop of sugar in Louisiana, at 110,000 hogsheads. This is about one-fourth an ante-bellum crop.

—The French Government has ordered eight hundred thousand waist belts for the army, with a medicine box attached, to contain what may be used for wounds. Why has this never been thought of before?

—The population of New York in 1760 was 16,391. It has been four times doubled in one hundred years. Paris has doubled within thirty-two years; London within forty years, and Vienna within forty-four.

—In the destruction of two-thirds of the town of Enos, in Turkey, recently, five hundred houses, four Greek churches, one mosque, and several public buildings were burned. The loss is twenty million piastres.

—The Bull Run district, near Manassas, Va., where occurred the first great fight of the war, and the house at Appomattox Court House, where Lee surrendered to General Grant, were both the property of one man.

—Broad street, Philadelphia, is eleven miles and a half long, in one straight line, and one hundred and fifteen feet wide, extending from League Island, on the Delaware river, to the northern boundry of the present city limits.

—The Pacific Railroad is graded to Cayenne city (Dacotah), the point of junction with the Denver branch, the beginning of the high grade. It is expected that the track will be laid, and cars running to that place, on the 1st of November.

—The Knoxville Whig states: "On Monday Gov. Brownlow was the recipient of a wagon-load of coal from Chamberlain, Richards & Co. This was the first car-load of coal ever brought over that great enterprise, the Knoxville and Kentucky railroad."

—A writer in the Times complains that England sends bad beer to her troops in India. Formerly there was a beer taster for the army, but the office has been abolished and the soldiers get slek from bad beer. In this country people sometimes get sick by good beer.

—Under the head of "The Manifold Advantages of Louisville," the Democrat has "the clinical material at the Dispensary yesterday morning—one fracture of the skull and depression of the brain; and a can of the dislocation of the former, of two months' standing."

—The landlord of a prominent hotel in St. Paul received a letter a day or two ago, informing him that he was entitled by one of the heirs to the estate of Lady Townly and others of the royal blood of England. The estate is valued at from forty to fifty million pounds sterling.

—A Milwaukee orater recently remarked that there were in that city two hundred young men studying law, who and not brains enough to wheel a wheelbarrow straight, nor common sense sufficient to know how to cross a street without getting into the deepest, muddiest hole.

—The New Orleans Bulletin says that it is impossible to say whether over one-half the registered voters cast their ballot at the late election. It says that the newly enfranchised behaved very well at the election in that city. Coming from this source it does, this is a high compliment.

—In Lexington, Ky., two boys resolved on pistols and coffee for two, because a girl went with one to see the minstrels, and talked to the other while there. Before the meeting came off they went, like sensible fellows, and notified the police, when they were arrested and no blood was shed.

—Elder John L. Jones, one of the pioneer preachers of the Christian Church in Indiana, was to celebrate his golden wedding, at Franklin, in that State, recently.

"Now we maun totter down, John;
But hand in hand we'll go,
And we'll sleep thegither at the foot,
John Anderson, my Joe!"

—The population of New Albany, Ind., is rapidly increasing. In one square in that city, last week, says the Ledger, two industrious fathers were presented by their equally industrious wives, with triplets, and three other fathers were presented by their better halves with twins—all boys.

—A new grass is springing up in the Southern States. It appears to be a dwarf clover, is very thick set, covering the earth with a beautiful carpet of green. It is much relished by cattle, and is a complete exterminator of Bermuda, Joint, sedge, and other grasses. In Middle Georgia it is very abundant, and is attracting much attention.

—Female clerks, it is reported by a foreign correspondent of the New York Knickerbocker, are extensively employed in Europe. He says the women do nearly all the trading in Ireland, and the same custom prevails in Great Britain and France. He praises their general attention and the care they are always found to exhibit for their employers' interest.

—English race horses are valuable to their owners. Up to the date of the St. Leger race, Hermit had run nine races and won seven, gaining in stakes £12,715. Vauban at the same date had run twenty-six races, of which he had won sixteen, bringing his master $15,738. This is of course without regard to the money won by wages. How many horses have brought ruin to their owners?

—At a Sunday school celebration recently, on Long Island, an infant four years old recited one hundred and eleven verses of St. Mark's Gospel. She is a very "pale-faced child."—Ex.

The parents of the "pale-faced child" are ambitious of a heavenly crown for their baby; a good blow on the overworked little brain would be a shorter but no surer road to the end.

—The Chicago Times calls upon Democrats, all over the country, to make up a purse for Mrs. Lincoln. The Evening Journal replies that they had better finish the monument to Douglass, begun with such flourish of trumpets, months ago. Says the Journal, let them attend to their own family affairs before making up purses for their neighbors, and keep their sympathies where they are more needed.

—The Rev. Mr. Spurgeon preaches in conversational style; intersperses his sermons with such remarks as "Mrs. Bags, you'd better take that child into the anteroom: he's tired." "Come this way, friends, there is plenty of room." "Open the windows, gentlemen; it is very warm." And when a sad sort of cry interrupted him, he looked down on an old woman shaking with epilepsy and mildly remarked, "Don't be troubled, brethren, our sister is subject to fits."

—The families of Japan are divided for government into groups of five. Five families living contiguously are under the governmental sway of one head. These groups of five are again grouped under a governor of high authority, and so on until you reach the grade of the princes. In a group of five families each, one is held responsible for the good conduct of all, so far as this, that if any misconduct of one person is reported to the Government by a person not of his group, punishment is inflicted on all belonging to the group which contains the offending member. Thus a most constant and searching system of espionage prevails throughout Japan.

—The people of Rockford, Ill., are excited over a murder trial. Last June, Miss Stevens, a girl in her teens, was found murdered near a spring in Jo Pariess county, with marks of blows upon her head, and an apron tied tightly about her neck. Samuel Stanbrough was arrested for the murder, and narrowly escaped hanging by a mob. He was tried, in another county, and the jury has failed to agree. He had been seen with her the day before her corpse was found, his tracks were around the scene of the murder, and his whip found there; but it was agreed that he had been hunting horses, had met her at the spring, and accidentally dropped the whip. A new trial is ordered.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 8, 1867.

The gold market was weak and dull to-day, opening at 145, declining to 144¾, and closing at 145. Government bonds buoyant in the morning at an advance, but at the second board, declined from ¼ to ⅜ per cent. for all Five Twenty descriptions. 1881's and Seven Thirties unchanged. Ten Forties, took a sharp advance, but it was lost again. The supposition was that should the question of paying off Five Twenties as they mature be raised, the Ten Forty loan would not be distributed, and would, probably rise above the value of Five Twenties.

The stock market is very strong, and though money is exceedingly tight, the state of the market favors a still further rise, since every advance is followed up with large short sales in the hope of covering at lower rates. The mining shares are improving, except Gregory.

Closing New York quotations received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 145; 1881's, 111¾; 5-20s, 1862, 112¾; 1864, 109; 1865, 109¾; Consols, 107¾; 10-40s, 109¾; 7-30, 105.

—The Philadelphia Ledger, commenting on the public debt statement for September, says:

By comparing the debt statement of the 1st instant with that of September we find that the total debt decreased $16,729 973 64, and that the amount of debt less cash in the treasury increased $2,494,181 71. The amount of coin in the Treasury increased $2,656,639 69 and the currency decreased $18,349 7.8.—making a net reduction of cash on hand of $13,724 056 35. The great reduction of the Treasury balances during the month was made from unusually heavy payments from the War and Interior Departments. The ordinary expenses of the army are very heavy, and large sums have added to them large expenditures in consequence of the Indian troubles, while the Interior Department is severely taxed on account of pensions. The receipts from internal revenue have been light for September, which falls against the Treasury. Nothing better is promised for the current month. It is estimated that the receipts will be considerably in excess of the payments, and that the statement on November 1st will show a reduction of several millions dollars. A further comparison between the present statement and that made on September 1st exhibits, under the head of debt bearing coin interest, an increase on the 6 per cent. bonds of $69,200. Of the debt bearing currency interested there has been a decrease on the three year 7-30s of $35,-280,925. The matured debt presented for payment has decreased $1 219 119, while under this head there is an exhibit of a decrease of the compound interest, matured June 10, July 15, and August 15, 1864, of $5,189 630. The debt bearing no interest has decreased $4,122 339 69.

—The Chicago Tribune, of Monday, says: The exchange was once and strongly weak on the national banks were disposed to hoard, in view of the publication of the quarterly statement on Monday, in contrary to general opinion a little "shinning" for currency was observable this afternoon, as much more currency than usual was paid over the counter. This was the case more particularly with the private banks. Some four or five hundred thousand dollars were received by express this morning—part from St. Louis and the balance from New York—and had it not been for these remittances there would have been more "shinning" for currency, with a tighter money market. The offerings of sight paper, drawn against sales, were quite liberal, and generally credited up at ¼ discount. For discounts the market was very close, but, as borrowers understood the situation, the offerings were light.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 8, 1867.

CRUDE—The crude market was again firm but quiet and unchanged to-day. Spot oil is in pretty good demand, and as the supply is being rapidly reduced, holders are very stiff in their views, and refuse to sell at anything below quotations. We can report a sale of 2000 bbls in tank, immediate delivery, at 14c—the buyer taking it at tank; 1000 bbls at 14c, delivered at buyer's landing; and 140 bbls spot, at 13½, bbl returned. For future delivery, the market continues dull and weak, with offers to sell and but few, if any, offers to buy. We continue to quote at 12@12½c for first water, and the same figures will apply to all 1867, seller's option. That same 2000 bbls, for first water, was on the market again to-day, but nobody seems to want it.

REFINED—The market for bonded was again very firm and somewhat excited to day, in consequence of rumors that Antwerp had advanced to 60 francs. As a consequence there was not very much done, the sales in the aggregate being rather light, while prices have undergone but little change, if we except one operation for October, at 37c, which is an advance, compared with yesterday, of fully one cent. per gallon; as an offset to this, however, we have another sale for the same delivery reported at 36—bought in Philadelphia. We quote the following:

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 8, 1867.

The election was the main centre of attraction to-day, and, as a general thing, business was looked upon as a secondary matter. This being the case, there was but little done in the general markets, and we have but few round lot transactions to record; in prices, however, there are no changes worthy of special notice.

GRAIN—There is a good demand for Wheat, and but little offering; we now quote at $2,40 for Red, and $2,50 for White. Barley is steady but unchanged at $1,28@1,30 for Spring—but little Fall Barley offering. Corn is quiet and unchanged; sale of 1 car at $1,25, and 1 at $1,26. Rye may be quoted at $1,35@1,40.

—Since the above was put in type, we have the following sales reported: 1800 bush Corn, to arrive, at $1,24; 900 bush Rye at $1,40; 1000 bush Oats, on track, at 65c, and 1 car for, future delivery, at 62c.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm but unchanged at 14¾c for Shoulders; 16½@17c for Ribbed, and 18c for Clear Sides; 22c for Plain, and 23@24½c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is firm at 14½@15c, and Mess Pork at $24,50@25.

FLOUR—There is a continued fair local demand for Flour, and the market is firm, and prices are well maintained. We continue to quote at $10,50@11 for Spring Wheat; $11,50@12 for Winter Wheat, and $13,00@14,50 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is firm at $4@4,50.

SEEDS—Timothy Seed is in good supply and very dull—indeed, it would be difficult to sell a large lot at any price. Flaxseed is dull and nominal at $2,40@2,50. Cloverseed is not wanted.

SALT—Is dull and unchanged; we continue to quote Allegheny River brands at $2,25 on track, and $2,35 delivered.

RIVER NEWS.

There is no change to note in the situation at this port. Low water is still the order of the day, and navigation below the Monongahela bridge continues suspended. G. A. predictions that October, like September, will be a dry month, we fear will be verified, though there is no telling what a day may bring forth at this season of the year.

It was rumored yesterday that there had been a rise of four feet in the Monongahela at Brownsville, but we are of the opinion that it is not true.

Wm. L. Dent, pilot of the Calument, died in Vicksburg, on the 28th, of billious fever.

Capt. P. G. O'Reilly died of yellow fever in New Orleans on Saturday. He controlled the principal wharfboat at Evansville for many years, and two or three years since removed to New Orleans and engaged in commercial pursuits. His family received the news of his death at Evansville.

Capt. Jos. Harrison, a veteran steamboatman, died at his residence near Branch Hill, Clermont Co., Ohio, on Saturday, in the seventieth year of his age.

A VESSEL SAVED BY POURING OIL ON THE WATERS.—A correspondent of the London Shipping and Mercantile Gazette says he saw a practical proof of the truth of the old adage that oil would calm the tronbled waters. The event occurred on a voyage from St. Johns, Newfoundland, to Bristol, England. The vessel was loaded with oil and blubber, and experienced severe weather, was disabled and thrown on her beam ends. The sea being very heavy, it was suggested that oil would smooth it, and a hogs head was broached in the hold, and the oil pumped into the ocean with the water made by the vessel leaking. The effect was marvellous. The vessel was drifting to leeward, and to windward the sea appeared as though there was a calm, and in spite of a tremendous gale, the sea never broke on board for the eight days the vessel lay to. When the effect was observed the oil was not spared and the vessel reached Sicily, though so crippled as not to be worth repairing. If this be true it must greatly diminish the dangers of whaling, and a few barrels placed on every other seagoing craft might prove the salvation of some in stormy weather.

The St. Louis Republican has the following: A sand bank of gigantic proportions, its length stretching nearly across the river, and of nearly a quarter of a mile in width, obstructs the Mississippi north of Helena, leaving but a narrow channel on the Mississippi side for boats to pass. This bar is several feet above the surface of the still receding waters, and threatens to cut Helena off from steamboat communication with Memphis altogether. To the South, clear to New Orleans, a deep open river invites boats of the largest burden.

The Chattanooga, with a cargo for New Orleans, in the Atlantic line, swung against a snag at Able's Towhead, eight miles above Cairo Friday night, starting a leak, compelling her to discharge her freight at Cairo, and repair, with a side dock. Very little freight damaged.

There are twenty-eight inches of water in the Arkansas river, to Pine Bluff.

The Mesers. Howard, of Jeffersonville, are building a pleasure boat for the St. Louis and Alton trade; hull, two hundred and fifty-five feet; hold, seven feet, and thirty-four feet beam, with sharp model. She is to have the engines of the Southwest, with cylinders seventy-four inches in diameter, and seven-foot strokes.

The Ben. Johnston sunk Saturday morning, in the Missouri river, two miles above Brownsville, Nebraska. Loss not ascertained.

Fifteen hundred bales of cotton arrived at Mobile on the 2d, on the steamers Onward, Virginia No. 1, Nyanza and Jewess.

The St. Louis Dispatch, of Saturday, says: The steamer Lizzie Gill, now tied up at the foot of Capt. John Scudder, the worthy Secretary of the Memphis Packet Company during the prevailing sickness of the past season, will be a pleased to know, that he has passed the "fiery ordeal" safe and sound, and never enjoyed better health and spirits.

The price paid for the Ned Tracy sold a few days ago by Capt. D. S. Carter to John G. Copeland, Esq., was $12,000 which is regarded as the cheapest boat sold for many years. Her cabin outfit and machinery is worth that, to say nothing of her hull, which is staunch and good, being rebuilt at Cairo or so ago, at a cost of eleven thousand dollars.

STEAMER ELLA FARER SUNK.—Messrs. Shorey & Nixon received a telegram from Cairo yesterday, announcing the sinking of the steamer Ella Faber. She left the Portland wharf Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and yesterday at noon she struck some obstacle in the river, near Carneiton, Indiana, and sunk. No lives were lost, and, as the boat is new, is a very low stage at present, it is more than probable that she will be raised.

The Ella Faber was a stern-wheel boat, valued at about $15,000, and is owned by her commander, Capt. John Peckenbaugh, Capt. A. T. Hay, acting as clerk, and Mr. Woolfolk, of Cairo, of this city. Was under charter to run by the Louisville, Evansville and Henderson Packet Co., and was insured in Louisville offices. Louisville Democrat.

The St. Louis Democrat, of Saturday, says: The Lizzie Gill was drawing when she left the levee four feet and seven inches at the deepest part. Captain O'Neal asserts positively she has on board 800 tons of freight. This statement Capt. Carroll, of the Gill, will question, but O'Neal was willing to back his assertions with a bet. The Captain also sets down her cotton at 1,500 bales. There can be no doubt that she is the greatest carrying low water steamboat afloat on the Western rivers. A portion of her cargo is 700 head stock.

The St. Paul Press says: The Minnesota river improvement under the supervision of Gen. Gibbon, is now in progress of the building. The General is entitled to great credit and the people of our State for the vigor with which he has prosecuted it, and that the citizens of the Minnesota Valley are placed under obligations to him for the active interest he has manifested in this great enterprise. It is to be hoped that Congress will, at the next session, make the requisite appropriation for the necessary work of the Engineer in order to perfectly utilize what is now being done so rapidly and efficiently.
